Anglatin's Philosophy

Anglatin's philosophy is fulfilled when participants travel to other regions and destinations, and interact with their counterparts. The exchange of professional ideas in information is not complete if participants don't gain a good understanding of the region.

About Us

Anglatin is thrilled to announce our return, revitalized and ready to embark on exciting educational journeys! With our focus on natural resources, travel, culture and arts we are introducing new programs and destinations that align with the latest in science and technology.

Fred's legacy and knowledge and passion for education continues to inspire our itineraries, making every trip an enriching experience. Join us as we explore our remarkable environment and deepen our understanding of it.

Consuelo

Our Programs and Tours

Anglatin's philosophy is fulfilled when participants travel to other regions and destinations, and interact with their counterparts. The exchange of professional ideas in information is not complete if participants don't gain a good understanding of the region, country and culture. Therefore, we arrange social gatherings with hosts and take part in cultural activities. This social interchange is also an effective forum for increasing mutual understanding and collaboration.

Agriculture & Horticulture Tours

Our Agriculture & Horticulture program offers a unique opportunity to immerse yourself in the rich tapestry of our continents' farming. From fruits and horticulture to forestry and wine production. You will engage with local professionals, colleagues and experts and explore best practices and production, management and marketing. This is a valuable experience where you have the chance to build valuable connections and gain inside insights into sustainable agriculture practices.

Our programs are tailor-made for your colleagues, partners and students. Join us in fostering partnerships that enhance our understanding of the agricultural landscape.

Escorted Group Tours

Planning a family reunion, anniversary celebration, or a getaway with friends? Our expertise in organizing escorted tours ensures a seamless travel experience for your group. We handle all logistics, allowing you to focus on creating cherished memories in stunning destinations like Chile, Brazil, and Paris. Discover how easy group travel can be with our professional planning services.

Habitat & Health & Nature

As climate change poses significant threats to our habitats and human security, Anglatin, must proactively seeking solutions. Integrating sustainability into important changes in all fields and planning is not just beneficial; it is essential. By addressing challenges such as biodiversity loss, resource scarcity, and community resilience, we can foster a model society that protects our natural environments while ensuring economic and social stability. Collaborating on innovative strategies will be key to navigating these pressing issues.

Science & Technology

Chile has consolidated its position as a leader in technological innovation in Latin America, thanks to its solid research infrastructure and a vibrant startup ecosystem that attracts foreign investment.

Initiatives such as Startup Chile have positioned the country as a regional center for entrepreneurship, and its commitment to renewable energy makes it a benchmark for sustainable development. These factors make Chile a strategic destination for entrepreneurs looking to expand their businesses and access an innovation base that responds to the demands of the global and Latin American markets.

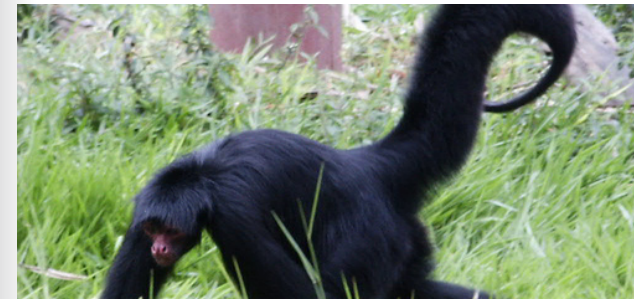

Study Technical Tours

At Anglatin, our Study Technical Tours are not just journeys; they are immersive experiences that connect participants to the pressing themes shaping our world today. Led by the expertise of our professionals, these tours delve into the intricate relationships between sustainability and innovation across various fields.

From exploring the future of Agriculture and the transformative concepts of Architecture & Urbanization to the profound implications of Artificial Intelligence & Neuroscience, each theme reflects our commitment to understanding and addressing contemporary challenges.

Wildlife, Rivers & Ocean

Anglatin offers you several cruises around the world. Let's start with American Cruise lines. Fifty years of experience and itineraries in thirty- five states. Ask for the following itineraries: Historic Mississippi River, Music Cities, American Revolution, Columbia & Snake Rivers and others. Visit Brazil and the Amazon River Cruises. Discover and explore astonishing wildlife, visit local communities and learn about their history.

Then go south and experience the unforgettable Patagonia in Chile. Sail in comfort through the Chilean Fjords or around Tierra del Fuego to the wilds of Cape Horn.

At the same time enjoying hiking trails and the exuberance of marine wildlife.

Galapagos cruises allow you to be amazed with the natural habitat of the islands. Exists gorgeous opportunity for photographers and animal lovers. These are a few of the cruise destinations we offer to you.

Wines of The World

Chilean wines have deeply influenced my education and culture, fostering an early appreciation for viticulture. Through thoughtfully designed itineraries, we facilitate knowledge exchange among wine producers worldwide, addressing challenges in production, marketing, and management. Join us for this unique opportunity to connect and share insights with your global colleagues. Together, we can enhance our understanding of the viticulture landscape.
